

Daryl Upsall International is looking for excellent consultants to join its international team

The Consulting division of Daryl Upsall International is always open to hearing from senior experienced fundraisers, and consultants to be able to meet the ever-growing demand for its services from national and international non-profit organisations.

We are looking for Leadership Giving and Individual Giving consultants that are passionate about fundraising and have specialist skills and experience in national and international fundraising coupled with strategic planning and management experience.

We are seeking to recruit an entrepreneurial, self-starter with 15+ years of progressively responsible fundraising experience, including years in a senior or management position that carries significant budgetary and/or staff management responsibility. You will have knowledge and experience of fundraising in different markets around the world and the challenges and opportunities that exist in these markets. Previous experience working as a fundraising consultant is an added value.
